14th Annual Inspiration Event

Lifetime Assistance
Foundation

PRESENTS

An Evening With

Yo-Yo Ma & The Silk Road Ensemble

thursday
August
12th

CMAC
Performing Arts Center

This year's Inspiration Event attracted a full house as guests from Buffalo to Syracuse, were treated to a magical evening of sight, sound and stars! Thankfully by late afternoon the sun came out, the temps cooled down, and the forecast of a meteor shower made for a spectacular summer night! As host to one of only eight 2010 Ensemble performances in the country and the only New York State appearance, Lifetime Assistance Foundation once again set a new high watermark for the region's top annual entertainment event.

The Silk Road Ensemble, with world-class Cellist Yo-Yo Ma as the Artistic Director and Founder, consists of internationally renowned musicians, composers, visual artists and storytellers originating from more than 20 countries along the historic Silk Road. Their enchanting arrangements are based on ancient cultures and folklore that continue to influence many cultures today.

The audience was captivated for two hours by the brilliant colors, exquisite sound and high energy that brought them to their feet for three ovations. The performers were equally charmed by the crowd and returned the kindness with two encores.

It is impossible to talk about the wondrous memories of this evening without a special recognition for two of our most loyal corporate sponsors. A big round of applause to Wegmans and First Niagara Bank who have been our Corporate "Box Office Backers" since the beginning of the Annual Inspiration Event! Please also see the back page of the Lifetimes for a list of event 2010 Sponsors for this year's event.

Among Lifetimes many loyal supporters and friends were, Mr. and Mrs. Harold & Joan Feinbloom, who treated 26 friends to a road trip soirée to CMAC. The Lifetime Assistance Foundation is extremely fortunate to have so many dedicated friends who share in our mission and support the Annual Inspiration Event. Thank you to each and all of you for a tremendously successful evening with Yo-Yo Ma and the Silk Road Ensemble.

From the CEO

James Branciforte

This Lifetimes highlights remarkable accomplishments in support of our Lifetime family and friends, whose endeavors make a positive difference in so many ways. You will read of volunteers who serve on behalf of others; employees who continuously upgrade their skills; individuals with disabilities going toe to toe with area legislators to advocate for quality and dignified lives; a reaffirming story of employees with disabilities celebrating ten years in competitive employment; and the amazing accomplishments of Special Olympics figure skater, Cori Piels, speaking at the United Nations about building a more inclusive and respectful world for all – this wondrous news is as gratifying as it is inspirational.

Of particular note, is a feature article highlighting the commitment and longevity of Lifetime Assistance employees achieving 30 and 25 year employment anniversaries. We hold in high esteem, our colleagues and associates, led by Lifetime's most senior employee, Lou Katz (30 years!), who've achieved these very significant milestones. Longevity of service is a tremendous strength at Lifetime, and it's especially noteworthy that in 2010, 150 employees will realize service milestones of 5 to 30 years. We also stand tall and are very proud of Lifetime's Direct Support Professionals, who on the front lines of service and support, provide extraordinary services.

Lifetime is a rare and unique organization and we salute and extend our deepest gratitude to the very talented and dedicated employees, who every day deliver upon the promise of individual dignity and independence.

HeartLines Around The Board Room

Governor Honors Lifetime Assistance Board Member

New York's Governor Paterson and the Board of Regents have appointed Lifetime Assistance board member Anna Korus as Vice-Chairman of the NYS School for the Blind, Board of Visitors. Ms. Korus, Vice President of People, Inc. in Buffalo, has served on the Lifetime Assistance Board for six years.

Gerald Cox, Ph.D. was appointed to the Board of Directors in June 2010

Dr. Cox holds a Ph.D. in Materials Science from the University of Rochester and is credited with a number of publications in his field. Dr. Cox and his wife, Lisa, have two children.

Congratulations to the recently elected slate of officers of the Lifetime Assistance, Inc. Board of Directors.

Don Furey, Ph.D. – Chairman

Dr. Furey was elected to the Board in 1992 and most recently held the office of Vice-Chairman. Dr. Furey is retired after completing 18 years as the Division Director of the Chemical Quality Services Division at Eastman Kodak Company. Dr. Furey is also a member of the Lifetime Assistance Foundation Board of Directors.

Donna J. Lowry – Vice-Chairman

Ms. Lowry is a founding Board Member. In the fall of 1978, her son Greg, was one of the first to benefit from Lifetime Assistance services. Ms. Lowry is retired after completing 20 years as Coordinator of Physically Handicapped Children's Program at the Monroe County Health Department. Ms. Lowry is a 2007 recipient of the National Jefferson Award for Public Service and past recipient of the nation's highest care giving recognition, the Roslyn Carter Award.

Mary Squires – Treasurer

Ms. Squires was appointed to the Board of Directors in 2005 and most recently held the position of Secretary. After 23 years at Chase Manhattan Bank, in 2005 Ms. Squires enjoyed a few weeks of early retirement before joining Kodak and currently holds the position of Benefits Accounting Manager. Ms. Squires is also a member of the Lifetime Assistance Foundation Board of Directors.

Cathy Houston-Wilson, Ph.D. – Secretary

Dr. Houston-Wilson was appointed to the Board of Directors in 2000. Dr. Houston-Wilson joined the College at Brockport in 1993 and is the Associate Department Chairperson of Kinesiology, Sport Studies, and Physical Education. Throughout her career, Dr. Houston-Wilson has focused on adaptive recreation and sport activities for individuals with disabilities.

Management Updates

Congratulations to Gary Tatar on his promotion to Coordinator of Supported Employment for LAICO Industries & Services. In his new role Gary will oversee all of LAICO's contract services and supervise job coaches.

Congratulations Gary!

Lifetime Assistance Foundation Inc. Executive Director Appointed

Ms. Mary Howard joins the Lifetime Assistance Foundation Inc. following her work with the City of Rochester, including most recently, as Project Manager for the City's 175th Anniversary Celebrations. In addition to Ms. Howard's public service, her fund development work with WXXI

Public Broadcasting Council is highly complementary to the mission of Lifetime Assistance Foundation, in support of our community's citizens with developmental disabilities.

Welcome Mary!

Journey of a Lifetime

30 Years 30 of Service

Louis Katz, Executive Vice President

"Working in the developmental disabilities field was my college goal, and I've always felt that Lifetime Assistance was the premier agency for serving people with developmental disabilities. Why would I want to be anywhere else?"

25 Years 25 of Service

Sheryl "Sheri" Ainsworth, Associate Director of Day Services

"The people...I just fell in love with the people and can't imagine any other career path. Lifetime Assistance has allowed me to learn and grow in the field that I love and I thank you for that." Sheri began her quarter century journey at Lifetime as a therapy aide at Clinton Street Day Treatment. Since then Sheri has explored every aspect of day services, including work as habilitator, program manager, clinical coordinator, and Community Integration Coordinator. Sheri assumed her current role as Associate Director of Day Services in 2005.

Sheila Matthews, Home Liaison, Family Care Program

"One of the most important things in this life is that we help those in need or who are less fortunate. This is why I decided to work with an agency that gives so much to others."

Sheila was first hired as a relief staff person and quickly found her calling as a full-time residence counselor at South Avenue home for nine years before becoming the assistant manager at Clarkson Apartments. She found her latest calling as a home liaison for the Family Care Program, a position she has held for 10 years.

Barbara Johnston, Manager, Holley Street

"Helping people has always been my mission in life. I have had a great experience at Lifetime Assistance." Barb was hired as Lifetime's first LPN for the home on Holley Street, where she worked part-time. In 1989 Barb was appointed manager at Holley Street and has held this position ever since.

Catherine Meszaros, Community Integration Coordinator, Chili Day Hab

"My career at Lifetime Assistance wasn't anything I planned. A friend who worked here suggested working relief, so I did, and the rest is history. All of these years later, I couldn't imagine doing anything else." Cathy began as a relief staffer in 1983, and was hired as a residence counselor at the South Avenue home. Soon after, she transferred to Clinton Street Day Treatment as a therapy aide, where she progressed to habilitator and then program manager. For the last 31 years, Cathy has been Community Integration Coordinator at Chili Day Services. In 2009 her outstanding record of service was recognized as recipient of the Leadership Award by the New York State Association of Day Service Providers.

Joan Zorn, Housekeeper & Cook

"This is more than a job to me. I feel like part of a big, loving family." More than 25 years ago, Joan joined Lifetime Assistance on a part-time basis as a housekeeper and cook at the home of Holley Street has held the same position ever since.

Day of Caring

Lifetime Assistance extends a heartfelt appreciation for all the work completed on this year's United Way Day of Caring. 450 volunteers from Eastman Kodak and HSBC Bank used skills they might not implement during a normal workday to complete a variety of projects including general spring cleanup, gardening, painting, landscaping, electrical work, and installing fencing. The volunteers worked at more than 40 sites, including our Paul Road headquarters, Clarkson Sensory Park, Day Service sites, and all of our homes.

Special thanks go to Ron Pikulski, Lifetime's facilities/transportation director, the maintenance crew, residence managers, and the network of extraordinary agency personnel who coordinated and managed this massive, highly valuable project.

Achieving a Higher Education

You know you've made it when a college asks YOU to teach THEM!

Lifetime's Ernie Haywood, Vice President of Residential Services and Matthew Crowley, self-advocate, who receives services from Lifetime Assistance, have been selected to serve on the Finger Lakes Community College's Direct Care Professional Advisory Board. Ernie and Matt have been asked to provide input, as the college seeks national accreditation for their Direct Support Professional Training Program. The Finger Lakes Community College Program provides quality entry level training to potential direct support professionals, who will make a difference in the lives of the individuals with disabilities. Matt is a former Self-Advocacy volunteer of the Year and Co-Chair of the 2007 Western NY Self-Advocacy Conference. Matt is employed by Lifetime Assistance, Inc. to educate new staff members about working with people with developmental disabilities, and brings the voice of a citizen with a developmental disability to the Advisory Board. Those interested in the Finger Lakes Community College's Direct Support Training program can contact the Finger Lakes Community College at 585-394-3500.

Lifetime Assistance Foundation Scholarships Awarded

Another great example of the Lifetime Assistance Foundation furthering the mission of Lifetime Assistance Inc. by advancing employee job skills and promotional opportunities through Educational Scholarships. Awards are provided through the generosity of donor-specific gifts and foundation generated grants. A recent award ceremony with scholarship recipients and their families included a celebration of employee accomplishments and the award of eight scholarships, including the Sperandio Family and Kleiman Family Scholarships.

The Joanne Mills Award for Nursing Excellence

The second annual Joanne Mills Award for Nursing Excellence was recently presented to Vicky Bushey, RN. Nominated by her Lifetime Assistance nursing peers, Vicky was praised for her upbeat spirit, amazing dedication, and always being there for the good of all, at all times. Vicky's exceptional nursing skills enable her to offer sound medical advice that positively impacts her patients' lives.

Created in memory of Joanne Mills, RN and Lifetime Assistance associate director for more than 24 years, the award is presented annually to a Registered Nurse who exhibits qualities and characteristics of outstanding nursing practices in the field of intellectual and developmental disabilities. Last year's inaugural winner was Kathy Hanrahan.

About the award, Vicky Bushey said, "regrettably I never had the pleasure of meeting Joanne, but I understand that we share the same high standards in our nursing care and commitment in our nursing position. I get great satisfaction working with our individuals. A smile from just one individual lights up the world and that in itself is a great motivator. I want to say a big thank you for all those who nominated me. It is nice to know that my work here does not go unnoticed."

Going the Distance... All the Way to Albany

The Lifetimes Family and Friends Group traveled to Albany to participate in the New York State Association of Community Residential Agencies' Legislative Advocacy Day.

Carl Grayson, president of Lifetime Assistance's Self-Advocacy Group, spoke at length on the importance of maintaining funding to ensure that individuals with developmental disabilities are able to lead productive lives and live as independently as possible.

Bob Day shared the importance of not cutting funding by relating stories of his housemates and their levels of need, illustrating how important having decent housing is to them, and how they embrace their independence and participation in their community.

The group also encouraged Senators Alesi, Robach, and Maziarz, and Assembly members Stephen Hawley, Bill Reilich, Susan John, and Joe Morelle to continue to support the services that are so needed and deserved.

14th Annual Gates-Chili Golf Tourney

Thank You for Your Support!

The hot summer weather made for a great day of golf at the beautiful Brook-Lea Country Club for this year's 14th Annual Gates-Chili Chamber of Commerce Charity Golf Tournament & Auction. The August 2nd Charity Scramble event proceeds were donated in support of the Lifetime Assistance Foundation.

The heat of the day set in with some very hot and muggy temperatures but that did not distract the teams who placed in the top three on the leader board. Emcees Steve Hausmann and Jeremy Newman gave us some great laughs and kept the auction bidding action going strong throughout the event.

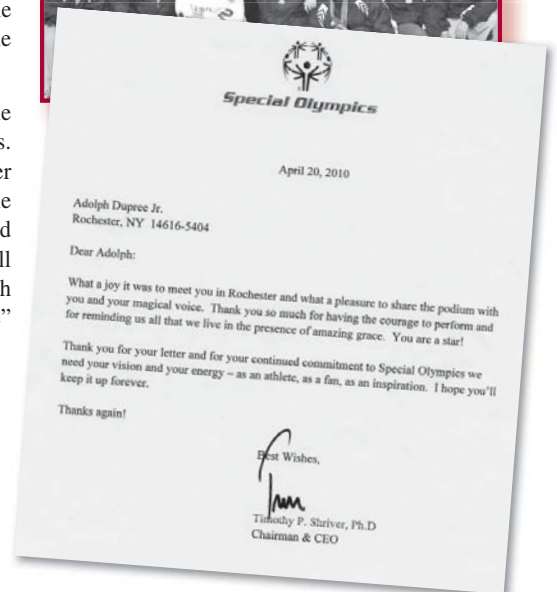

Corporate Sponsors gave generously and 80 Prize Sponsors came through with everything from cart towels, to weekend getaways, a flat screen TV, wine packages, specialty gift baskets and some wonderful framed pictures of famous sport legends.

A BIG thank you to everyone who came out to support the event! And most importantly to the Gates Chili Chamber of Commerce for your continued dedication, enthusiasm and time invested to ensure the events success. Your kindness continues to improve the lives of families and their loved ones in our Community.

“High Fives for Dr. Shriver”

A group of Lifetime Assistance Special Olympians gathered at the Rochester International Airport to greet Timothy Shriver, the son of the late Eunice Kennedy-Shriver, founder of the Special Olympics.

At the airport, Dr. Shriver greeted each of the athletes personally and shared conversations. The next day Dr. Shriver was the keynote speaker at the Kirch Conference in Rochester, where he mentioned the wonderful welcome he received from Lifetime Assistance and proceeded to call upon Lifetime's own Special Olympian Adolph Dupree to share a rendition of “Amazing Grace” with conference attendees.

Thank You!

The 11th Annual Airport 5K Run/Walk was held in June at the Kodak Hangar, Greater Rochester International Airport. This family friendly event nearly doubled its attendance, welcoming over 700 runners/walkers from Rochester and surrounding areas. Each year, this event attracts the community for a leisurely walk or an invigorating run on a 3.1 mile course held on an actual runway, closed to air traffic. This by far, is the most unique race in the region and another successful Foundation event.

County Executive Maggie Brooks presented welcoming remarks followed by the Marine Corps Reserve "Color Guard."

Media sponsor radio station WBEE 92.5 supported the event with music, games and prizes. On the runway, children participated in the Kids Fun Run, guests were invited to tour the "Black Hawk" helicopter and visit with members of the US Army National Guard and the Monroe county Sheriff's Mounted Patrol and Canine Units, along with Seneca Park Wegmans Zoomobile and Mercy Flight.

With the assistance of the community, this event raised over $30,000 to support the Foundation's efforts on behalf of citizens with developmental disabilities. A very special thank you is extended to the Brockport Blizzards Soccer Team, under the coordination of Michelle Wilcox, registrar of the Brockport Blizzards. Michelle reached out to 80+ athletes to fundraise for the worthiest of causes and we applaud this group of athletes ranging in age from 10 – 14 years, as they raised over $4,000 in pledges to benefit the Lifetime Assistance Foundation.

A very special highlight of the event was the surprise two-person team appearance by Ron Pikulski (Lifetime Assistance's Director of Transportation and Facilities) and Amod Hanna (who participates in the Lifetime's home and job services). Ron and Amod had been secretly planning the 3.1-mile race with Ron providing the "horse power" behind Amod, a very enthusiastic fundraiser, and his wheel chair, crossing the finish line ahead of many runners.

County Executive Maggie Brooks, Kodak and the Greater Rochester International Airport, our sponsors and the many volunteers who gave so generously of their time and the support of runners and our generous community for a memorable and very successful event!

Mark your calendars for Saturday, June 18, 2011 as we take the runways for the 12th Annual Airport 5K Run/Walk.

Special Olympics Athlete Speaks at U.N.

Cori Piels, a Special Olympics figure skater and Lifetime day service participant, traveled to the United Nations to speak at a global forum on behalf of her fellow 48,000 New York Special Olympics athletes. Presenting to representatives from all over the world, Cori shared her story of overcoming neglect and exclusion by finding strength and confidence through sports. Today she is an advocate for more than three million Special Olympians throughout the world—helping to change attitudes, foster community relationships, and provide a more inclusive and accepting world for all people. Said Cori, “It was really great to be able to speak out for the Special Olympics and why it is so important.”

Honoring Our “10’s”

Several former Work Center employees have achieved a wonderful milestone of success, celebrating 10-year anniversaries in competitive work employment.

The Residence Inn Hotel hired Carrie as a housekeeper in February 2000, after working less than a year in a supervised crew. Carrie’s employer describes her as extremely reliable and someone who consistently exceeds job standards.

Marc, Michael, and John love working for Wegman’s general maintenance, helping hands, and in the deli department, almost as much as Wegman’s customers depend upon their friendly assistance.

Deanna and Michelle celebrate their 10 years with McDonalds and Wal-Mart, respectively, and particularly enjoy seeing coworkers and “regulars” they’ve come to know through the years.

On the Job, and Loving Every Minute of It

First, Josie Navarra takes a short piece of string from a cardboard box filled with them, then works one end through a plastic tag. Then she ties the two ends together and moves on to the next tag. Over and over.

Some dread the thought of one more Monday morning. Others dream of retiring to a tropical island, never having to lift a finger again.

Not true for Navarra. She dreams of being a Walmart greeter someday.

Coming to work at LAICO Industries and Services is another happy day in the life for Navarra, a developmentally disabled 34-year-old who lives with her father in Gates. She's been working here for 12 years, and loves the people – and loves the feeling of satisfaction she gets at the end of the day.

At work, though, she's all business, all the time. She's got goals. Someday she'd love to be working in the community.

"Some feel like we're at school. It's not school. It's a place where you come and work," Navarra said. "I want to keep working, working, working until I finish the job."

LAICO, which is a division of Lifetime Assistance Inc., provides vocational training for the 160 developmentally disabled people who work in the Paul Road warehouse. They do light assembly jobs, inserting, labeling and other services for paying customers, primarily in the local print industry.

More than 200 more work outside the building in supported and independent workplaces, said Steve Mitchell, operations manager.

The goal is to train workers so they're independent, but make no mistake: This is a competitive environment, and no one is immune to a difficult economy. The Classified Shredding Services operated at the Chili site was developed several years ago so LAICO could retain business and jobs, Mitchell said.

A Day in the Life of a Hard Worker

Josie Navarra, 34, a developmentally disabled employee at LAICO Industries and Services in Chili, wakes up every morning to the alarm clocks warning – yes she enjoys taking care of business. Here's how a typical day in her working life goes:

7 a.m. Navarra fixes breakfast – cereal or oatmeal. "I do it myself," she said. A van stops by Navarra's home to pick her up for work.

Erin Laffin, a workshop supervisor here for nine years, said the work they do helps to build a sense of pride in themselves, but also meets the needs of customers.

"These are real jobs, for real customers, with real deadlines," said Laffin, of Greece. "There are days when we are under pressure, when so much is needed to be done yesterday.

Like everyone, Navarra has those days where no amount of money seems worth the effort. Knowing that she has to work hard in order to achieve her goals helps keep those feelings in check.

For the most part she – and her co-workers – are among the best in the business, Mitchell said.

That's a point Navarra often brings up to Lifetime Assistance CEO Jamie Branciforte, who visits the warehouse regularly.

"I always talk to my big boss, Jamie," Navarra said. "Is there a way to give me a raise or a bonus?"

Some things about the work world are true no matter where you collect a paycheck.

On this Monday morning, she dresses casual – pink top and jeans – because the assembly work demands it.

9:15 a.m. That's when she arrives to work, on time because she punches a time card. Most of the time there is work to be done – with stringent deadlines that have to be met – or her and her co-workers train for a new job. "I come in to do what I have to do," Navarra said.

11:20 a.m. Lunchtime. Workers can buy lunches here, but Navarra prefers to pack her own lunch. "It's cheaper," she said.

2:40 p.m. That's when Navarra punches out for the day. "She enjoys what she does," said Erin Laffin, her supervisor. "She definitely has made strides through the years."

3 p.m. Navarra arrives home. Then it's on to work of a different sort – the treadmill. She walks for 30 minutes a day, but she does it slowly. "I'm not one of those fitness people," she said.

4 p.m. Navarra often writes in a diary, about her workday, about her late mother Josephine or about anything. She especially enjoys watching the soaps. "I miss some of them because I'm working," she said.

6 p.m. Dinnertime. Her father, Charlie cooks most of the time, and they eat together. He cleans the dishes; she dries and helps put them away. After dinner, she may retire to her office to work on the laptop her dad got her for Christmas.

11:40 p.m. Lights out, atleast on a workday. "I know it's late," she said. "But on the weekends, I stay up more." And then it's on to the next day.
